Dear Dominic

I am enclosing a copy of the interim report of the National Curriculum Design and Technology Working Group which is being published today.

Yours ever,

Tom

I think we do not need to respond. But it was a bit fly of K.P. to behave in this way. We should ensure this does not happen in future!

Thank you for your letter of 24 November to Dominic Morris enclosing a copy of the Interim Report of the National Curriculum Design and Technology Working Group. I confess to some surprise that we saw the report and your Secretary of State's letter of 23 November only after publication. Can I take it we will have an opportunity to see future Working Group reports before they are published.
